

Occupational Therapy Supports

Our flexible Occupational Therapy (OT) supports help our NDIS participants to achieve their goals through personalised, evidence-based supports.

Holistic Support to Help You Reach Your Goals

By combining in-house clinical Occupational Therapy with our existing NDIS supports, you're supported by one connected, collaborative team. We work together to share insights and implement holistic strategies tailored to you – helping you build independence, strengthen skills, and achieve your goals faster.

How Occupational Therapy can support you.

-  Sensory support & emotional regulation
Helping you stay calm, focused, and comfortable at home, in the community, or at work. Learning ways to manage stress, anxiety, and big emotions.
-  Planning, organisation & focus
Help with time management, routines, attention, memory, and finishing tasks.
-  Collaboration with your existing support team
Working with your other supports to ensure consistent strategies and progression towards your goals. This may include speech therapists, exercise physiologists, psychologists, behaviour support, dietitians to ensure consistent strategies and progression towards your goals.
-  Social skills & strategies
Develop conversation skills and understanding social cues at home, in the community, or at work. Learn how to maintain relationships, understand boundaries, and use technology or supports to communicate.
-  Independence & daily living
Support with personal care, cooking, travel training, staying safe, and managing day-to-day life.
-  Employment related OT support
Building job-ready skills, support for further study, workplace routines, communication, and adapting to workplace environments.

“ One of the most rewarding parts of occupational therapy is being able to work with people throughout their life. It offers a unique blend of creativity and client-centred care, while allowing me to make a direct, tangible difference in people's lives by helping them do what they love. ”
